The Continental Debt.

The following is the bill which Mr. G. C. Round, Radical, of Prince William, attempted to have referred in the House of Delegates on Monday, noticed in that day's legislative proceedings:

Whereas, it has been the declared policy of the State Government for several years to avoid "repudiation," and to preserve the "honor" of the State; and whereas, to this end the present State of Virginia, which came into existence January 27, 1870, has by the passage of the "Funding Bill," promised to pay two-thirds of the debt of the State of Virginia as it existed in 1860, with interest compounded from 1860 to 1870, and has issued certificates of indebtedness for the remaining one-third of said debt, being the portion due from West Virginia; and whereas, on the 4th day of July, 1876, the colony of Virginia, occupying the soil now occupied by the States of Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan, in connection with twelve other colonies did declare their independence of the Crown of Great Britain and proceed to establish the Government of the United States of America, and in pursuance thereof incurred a large debt, to wit: Three hundred millions of dollars which was paid in paper money commonly called "Continental Currency," which remains unredeemed to this day, to the great "dishonor" of the thirteen colonies aforesaid; and whereas, the just proportion of the said debt which should be paid by Virginia is estimated at one-tenth of the whole, to wit: Thirty millions, which being compounded every ten years, in accordance with the precedent of the "Funding Bill," aforesaid, now amounts to one billion two hundred and eighty-eight million four hundred and ninety thousand one hundred and eighty-eight dollars and eighty cents; and whereas, Virginia on account of her proximity to the National capital and on account of her historic fame is peculiarly interested in avoiding the lightest appearance of "repudiation," and in maintaining unsullied the honor and integrity of the Nation founded by Washington, Jefferson, Madison, and her other illustrious sons, and has shown by the passage of the "Funding Bill" her willingness to pay the debt of former state governments occupying the soil of the present State of Virginia.

Now, therefore, be it
Resolved, 1. That the committee on Finance be instructed to report a bill to be entitled "Funding Bill No. 2," funding Virginia's equitable portion of the Continental debt.
Resolved, 2. That the said committee be further instructed to provide in said bill for issuing Certificates of Indebtedness for the portion of said debt which should be paid by the States of West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.
Resolved, 3. That the said committee provide that the coupons upon said bonds shall be made receivable for taxes.
Resolved, 4. That said committee is requested to report upon the expediency of instructing our Senators and Representatives in Congress to urge the passage of an amendment to the Constitution of the United States so that the present State of Virginia can fund the debt of the Government which occupied the soil of Virginia from 1861 to 1865.
Resolved, 5. That said committee be further instructed to inquire and report upon the expediency of paying any debts which may be found due from the government formerly maintained in Virginia by Capt. Smith, Powhatan and others.
Resolved, 6. That said committee report by bill or otherwise.

THE LONG BRIDGE.—The Washington Star says: "The Baltimore and Potomac railroad company have proposed an arrangement of the controversy between the Georgetown mercantile and shipping interests and themselves, which bids fair to be satisfactory all round, and to have the effect of withdrawing the subject from further legislative interposition. The railroad company propose to remove the several obstructions which impel navigation at and near the present draw-way at the Virginia channel, viz: the feeder on the northwest angle of the draw-way, and the sunken or submerged piles at both ends and sides of the same, wherever they may be, endangering navigation. They also propose, in lieu of the present draw way of only 624 feet wide, to extend the same to a width of 73 feet in the clear, and to cause the draw-bridge to be opened, on due signal, at any time of the day from one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset. As these propositions appear to constitute a fair compromise between the two parties, there seems to be a probability that the important interests involved on both sides will have been served without prejudice to either. We are sure the public hereabouts will be gratified at such a result."

There recently died in the north of France, at the age of eighty-three, a miser who lived alone, and whose but, when examined by the authorities after his death, proved a sort of gold mine. His pillow alone contained 19,000 francs in gold pieces of the time of Louis XV and Louis XVI. He had a taste for gold pieces. He had been robbed many times, and the thieves were generally detected through the antiquity of the money they stole. The total of the sums robbed from him in his life for which men have been convicted and sentenced, reaches 100,000 francs.

Neither the exertions of the Khedive of Egypt, which are alleged to have been honestly intended, nor the expedition of Sir Samuel Baker, nor the diplomatic Sir Bartle Frere's trip to Zanzibar, have had the least impression on the East African slave trade. As Egypt is soon to annex all the territory in which this traffic is carried on, it is possible that in time a way may be found to restrain the greed of the Arab slave dealer.

The Symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general constive, sometimes alternating with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved.

Dress Makers recommend it as being the best Corset to fit a dress over, because it is cut in such a manner that the front and back seams fit like seams to a dress.
